Lakes.

Entered in this index under the word following prefix Lake except when the name is itself used as a prefix. Volume indexes are not uniform in this respect. Search should therefore be made under prefix when not found under the word following.

When the name of a lake becomes the name of a city or place the inversion is abandoned.

NOTE.-There was an Army of the Mississippi in the Western Department organized and commanded by General Bragg in March, 1862; this army was denominated Army of Tennessee in November, 1862. Another army, serving in Department of Mississippi and east Louisiana in 1862 and 1863, under General Pemberton, was also called Army of the Mississippi. On May 12, 1864. General Polk designated his command as the Army of the Mississippi. As no distinction seems to have been made between these armise in some of the volume indexes {especially the later volumes} none has been made in this index.
